THE DALLAS OUTRAGE.
What Mr. Jones Says About the Matter.
Lynchings Threatened.

DALLAS, TEX., October 6.—There has been no new developments in the Barlow-Walker outrage. Very many citizens have expressed a doubt that an outrage was committed. Mr. Jim Jones, however, states positively that an outrage was perpetrated. He says that when he heard the screams of the girl he ran to the spot, about forty yards from his house, and called out: "Is there any help needed here?" and the girl answered: "Yes, oh, for God's sake, help me! He is murdering me—he is murdering me!" He then started for his gun, and the girl said: "For God's sake, hurry!" He said he could see a man through the thicket when he first went up, but could not tell whether he was a white man or a negro. He could hear him cursing he did not know whom. On his return, after getting the gun, he met his brother and Mr. Malone, who took the gun and went on to follow up the leads, and his brother first thought perhaps Barlow was the party, but after taking into consideration the condition of the young man and where he was standing when first discovered, he changed his mind and now firmly believes that an outrage was committed. There was some talk of hanging the negro last night, and several parties came in from Forney to look into the matter, but after investigating the case there was not sufficient certainty as to the guilt of the negro to justify such a rash course. New light will probably dawn on the case in a few days.

AMONG THE BADGERS.

After a Visit to the International Military Encampment the President Starts for Milwaukee.

The Scenes at St. Louis and Chicago Repeated—The Entire Population Emptied into the Streets.

A Reception in the Park by Gaslight in the Afternoon and a Banquet at Night. The President speaks.

ADIEU TO CHICAGO.

CHICAGO, ILL., Oct. 6.—Swarms of people again filled the approaches to the Palmer house this morning eagerly watching for a glimpse of President Cleveland when he should emerge for a drive to the international military encampment. Half a dozen mounted police had no little trouble in clearing a passage for the President's carriage which was drawn by four spanking bays. The sky was lowering and every one was predicting that rain would fall before the President could make a start. Not a drop fell, however, and at 8:45 Mr. Cleveland, looking but little worse for his wholesale handshaking of the previous day, appeared at the arched doorway with his hat doffed and many a good natured bow to the cheering crowd. He lightly sprang into the waiting carriage, and in a trice was whirling through the thick of the business district and out Washington boulevard to the encampment. He was accompanied by Mayor Roche, General Terry and a dozen lesser dignitaries. Early as it was and threatening as was the day, the sidewalks along the entire route were lined with people, including thousands who, notwithstanding their strenuous all day and evening efforts yesterday, had failed to see the President or his wife, general confusion prevailing. A ludicrous incident occurred at the entrance to the encampment grounds. The President's carriage got stuck in the mud. There was not a moment's time to spare, and the prancing bays were smartly lashed. It was nipped and stuck with mud that was made thick and sticky by rain during the night. Finally the vehicle containing the chief magistrate gave a terrific lurch forward, and was gone from the cheering crowd. A rapid drive past 2000 or 3000 troops drawn up in line, a thundering salute from the artillery, and bows and smiles to a couple of thousand spectators in the stands, completed the ceremonies at the encampment.

Without delay the President boarded the train for the depot down town from which

THE START FOR MILWAUKEE was to be made. It lacked but five minutes of 10 o'clock, schedule time of the start for Milwaukee, when he arrived. Mrs. Cleveland had preceded him by half an hour. Mrs. Cleveland gazed out from the window of her car with decided interest that heightened when the President stepped from an incoming train on an adjoining track and briskly walked to her side. At once a cheer of entreaties went up for them to come out on the platform. "We want to see Mrs. Cleveland and three cheers for Grover" were the cries. When Mrs. Cleveland, in her green traveling dress and the President with his head uncovered appeared at the rear door of the train, a mighty cheer rolled through the depot. Just then the train began to move. A burst of sunshine lit up the scene, and while the multitude yelled itself hoarse the President and his fair young wife waved a farewell to Chicago.

THE DAY PROFITOUS.
MILWAUKEE, WIS., Oct. 6.—Up to today Milwaukee had been only once honored by the presence as her guest of a President of the United States. Nine years ago President Hayes was accorded an enthusiastic reception and was the lion of a day that has since been mentally recorded in the city annals with red letters. General Grant visited Milwaukee after his term of office as President had expired, but received as much enthusiastic attention as though he were still chief magistrate of the nation. Today Milwaukee is glowing with patriotic over its second opportunity to show honor to the chosen ruler of the people. Smiles are more general than frowns and happiness has for the time usurped business cares. The day opened brightly after a rather unpromising night during which the MUTTERINGS OF THUNDER were frequently accompanied by vivid flashes of lightning and the rain pattered down at intervals. The decorations that were yesterday put in place suffered somewhat from the water, but the blending effect of the rain in some instances enhanced the beauty of the designs. A large concourse of people assembled at the Northwestern depot on the Lake Shore long before the time set for the arrival of the President's train, and between the surging of the crowd and the movement of the different organizations into their assigned positions in the line of parade, that section of the city was afforded a spectacle

NEW IN ITS HISTORY.
There was but a moment to spare after the arrival of the President at the station in Chicago from the military encampment and the good-byes were hastily said as the train pulled out for Milwaukee. It had rained during the night, and a bit of a sprinkle was experienced while the party were still in the carriages, but before leaving Chicago the clouds had broken and nature smiled. Postmaster-General Vilas, whose guests President and Mrs. Cleveland are to be at Madison, accompanied the party from Chicago. Mrs. Cleveland shows no trace of fatigue caused by her social duties of yesterday, and is as charming as on

HER WEDDING DAY.
She stands beside her husband whenever a demonstration is made and every move shows she is enjoying her traveling experience. Both were astonished at the magnitude of the demonstration in Chicago, where yesterday morning more people were probably seen than at all the preceding stops.

The scenes along the way from Chicago were of the usual character. At Evansville there was a brass band serenade, and a triumphal arch of evergreens. At Racine, flags could be seen flying over the town a mile away. At the smaller stations all the country population around about was in waiting, and even ploughmen on the farms had their horses decked with

FLAGS AND RIBBONS.

When the train finally drew into the depot and the Presidential car was brought abreast of the temporary platform, on which the President was to alight, the large crowd cheered repeatedly, and swayed and surged about the depot platform. A Presidential salute was fired by a battery on the shore, and the revenue steamer Andy Johnson, opened her ports and echoed a response. The pre-arranged plans were quickly put in operation, and the escort of the distinguished visitors took up its position. The order of parade was as follows: Platoon of police, Marshal King and aids; Fourth battalion band; Fifth battalion band; visiting national guards, and other military companies present; Jefferson club of Jefferson, Wis.; carriage containing President and Mrs. Cleveland and Mayor Walber, followed by other guests; band, uniformed patriots; band, Ancient Order of Hibernians; band, Catholic uniformed Knights; bands, Knights in uniform; band, other uniformed orders; band, uniformed bodies alternating with bands; Hunter's juvenile band. The military

PRESENTED A FINE APPEARANCE.

It was the largest parade of military that has been seen in Milwaukee since the great reunion in 1880. The buildings on both sides of the streets traversed by the procession were tastefully decorated with the national colors, evergreens, etc., some of the designs being unique as well as tasteful. On Wisconsin street opposite the club rooms, the Juneau Club, an organization of young Democrats, erected a graceful arch of evergreens bearing the word "Welcome," and pictures of Mr. and Mrs. Cleveland. Along the walk in front of its quarters was a large reviewing stand from which the members of the club and their ladies greeted the President and his wife and showered flowers on them. The government building was also

DECORATED WITH THE NATIONAL COLORS and with pictures of the President and his wife. When the procession had traversed its circuitous route and arrived at the arch in front of the courthouse the honored guests and the reception committee left their carriages and took their places on the tastefully decorated platform that had been there erected. The military and civil societies that participated in the parade then passed in review, after which Mayor Walber arose and welcomed the President and his wife to the fair city of Milwaukee, and introduced the nation's ruler. President Cleveland spoke as follows:

"I am very glad to have an opportunity, though the time allowed is very brief, to meet the people of Wisconsin's chief city. Since we left home, in passing through the different states on our way, there has been presented to us a variety of physical features characteristic of the diversity of soil. But the people we have met at all points

HAVE BEEN THE SAME in their energy, in their local pride, and in that peculiar trait of American character which produces the belief firmly adhered to by every individual that his particular place of residence is the chosen and best favored spot the world contains. This condition creates an aggregate of sentiment invaluable in operation, furnishing the motive power which has brought about the stupendous growth and development of our country. But there has been another element of character displayed among the people everywhere on our travels which has been universal, and not disturbed or changed by any difference in place or circumstance. No state lines have circumscribed, no local pride has diminished and no business activity has in the least still'd

THE KINDNESS AND CORDIALITY of the people's welcome. There is bitterness enough in the partisan feeling which seems inseparable from our political methods, but the good people of the United States have, I believe, decreed that there are occasions when this shall have no place. This is well manifested to-day in our hearty greeting by the people of Wisconsin, and this active stirring city. Municipal enterprise has added much to the natural beauty of your metropolis, as is attested by your pleasant streets and handsome homes with their surroundings; but its great increase in population, its manufactures and its trade, demonstrate that its citizens have not been content

WITH BEAUTY ALONE. I cannot forget my interest in municipal affairs arising from an active experience in city government, and I had myself very much inclined to scrutinize such statements as fall under my eye demonstrating their financial condition with all its extensive public improvement. Unless I am much at fault Milwaukee has less of a public debt than any city of its population in the United States excepting one. In these days when the temptation to public extravagance is not often enough withstood, you may well be proud of this exhibit and be satisfied with

YOUR FINANCIAL CONDITION.

Large enterprises are often much influenced in their locations by such considerations and they are apt to be established where the burden of taxation is least and where the share of public indebtedness to be borne by them is smallest. I feel that I can express no kinder wishes for the people of Milwaukee than that they may continue by their splendid advantage of location and sound financial condition to invite to their city the most important elements of the most important growth and wholesome progress."

The chair in which the President will be seated at the banquet this evening is an elegant and majestic

PRESSING CHAIR.

It is made from the tree under which Washington took command of the Continental army on July 15, 1775, in Cambridge, Mass., known as the "Washington elm." In it Presidents Grant and Hayes have been banqueted in Boston. President Cleveland rode in the procession

WASHINGTON.

The Rumor that Minister Manning Will Not Return to Mexico is Without Foundation.

The White House Being Put in Order for the Winter Season While the President and His Wife Are Away.

A Lighthouse Tender Supposed to be Lost Off the Coast of Texas—Morrison Still Bent on Politics.

GOING TO ALABAMA. Special to the Gazette.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—Judge Chase, with, First Auditor of the Treasury, leaves for Alabama on Saturday to be absent a week.

POSITIVELY DENIED. WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—The report that Judge Manning, United States Minister to Mexico, has resigned, is positively denied at the Department of State. It is not believed that he has any intentions of giving up his mission.

WANTS POLITICAL BREECHES. Special to the Gazette.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—The political gossip has it that Colonel Morrison is desirous of entering political life, and will give up his place in the interstate commerce commission to be a candidate for the Fifty-first Congress. It is rumored that Judge Oberly, weary with the irksome duties of Civil Service Commissioner, that, if faithfully discharged, are sure to keep him in hot water with his party friends, would like to change his present position for a place on the interstate commerce commission, for which he is well fitted. These rumors are so reasonable, that they may be considered probable. Colonel Morrison's temperament is active, and he naturally finds it irksome to be cooped up in a railroad tribunal and wear his life out with long and short haul problems. Commissioner Oberly is of a judicial turn of mind, and would doubtless feel at home in the consideration of purely economic questions.

THE WHITE HOUSE BEING RENOVATED. New carpets have been put down in the east and blue rooms of the White House. The carpet in the blue room is made after a special design by Mr. Stone, an American artist, and is in harmony with the tints of room furnishings. An Axminster has been laid in the east room. The arrangements for lighting the north entrance have also been changed some, in order that the unseemly plunging of high dignitaries into darkness, as has occasionally happened, may hereafter be prevented. A force of men will begin work on general cleaning up Tuesday. Colonel Wilson said yesterday, in a week or ten days everything would be in readiness for the gayeties of the winter.

MR. MANNING WILL NOT RESIGN. A report published this morning that Mr. Manning, United States minister to Mexico, has resigned, is contradicted at the State Department. It is said that the Department has no intimation of such action on his part or that his visit to the United States on leave of absence is for any other purpose than to attend to his private business.

A LIGHTHOUSE TENDER SUPPOSED LOST. Fears are expressed that the lighthouse tender, Micaetette, has been lost off Texas. For two weeks the vessel has not been heard from, having been in a cyclone and driven out from shore. The vessel had a crew of fifteen men.

THE QUARANTINE MATTER.

The Independence Will Remain at a Safe Distance From Brownsville. Special to the Gazette.

BROWNSVILLE, TEX., Oct. 6.—In reference to the report published in yesterday's issue relative to an order directing a quarantine here against Matamoros it is learned that the affair has been satisfactorily settled between the authorities at Matamoros and those at Brownsville through the intervention of Judge Forto and others who took the matter in hand. The "Independencia," the man of war referred to said to be laden with a cargo of convicts is to be moored at San Fernando and not at Brazos, as was formerly intended. It is decided in keeping the contagion if any on board at bay.

Short in His Accounts.

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—Arthur H. Snell, acting paying teller of the Fulton Bank of Brooklyn was arrested this morning. He was short to the amount of $1200.

Six Men Drowned.

PORT HURON, MICH., Oct. 6.—The tug Orient, owned at Fairhaven, Mich., was lost on Lake Erie yesterday and six men drowned.

A Gale and an Earthquake.

HAVANA, Oct. 6.—The gale here yesterday was of short duration. A slight shock of earthquake was felt to-day in Santiago de Cuba.

BEST FAMILY MEDICINE.
No Household Should be Without It, and, by being kept ready for immediate use, will save many an hour of suffering and many a dollar in time and doctors' bills.
"My Daily Family Medicine."
"I have been a sufferer from Simmons' Liver Regulator for many years, having married my own Family Medicine. It is a pure, safe and reliable medicine. My mother's life was very partially saved. I had the regulator very safe, harmless and reliable as a family medicine, and have used it for any disorder of the system and found it to cure me. I believe it is the best medicine in the world, and great preventive of sickness. I have, often recommended it to my friends and shall continue to do so." (Rev. J. M.
